Plans For Big Halloween Fete Are Completed

Children to Gather at Six O'Clock Saturday Night for Parade

Children taking part in the big costume parade that is a feature of Antioch's annual Halloween party, Saturday night, are being asked to be at the Grade school at 6 o'clock sharp. The parade will start at 6:30 p.m.

Children who are not at the school in time to be assigned their place in the parade will "fall in" with the others at the Antioch theater, where they will all be guests of Fred B. Swanson, manager, at a showing of "Dixie."

Each grade will march as a unit in the parade, accompanied by its teacher. Music for the marchers is being arranged under the charge of Hans von Holwede.

Four prizes will be given to each grade—a first and second prize for boys and a first and second prize for girls.

Pre-school children will be awarded four prizes without regard for sex.

Lions Furnish Prizes

The Antioch Lions club is donating $25.00 for the prizes and candy for the children which is to be given by the village board.

The Halloween party, now in its tenth year, is sponsored by the Antioch Grade school, Antioch News and Antioch theater, with the general co-operation of the community.

Lions Hear Of Conservation Dept. Work

Motion Pictures on Wild-fowl Are Shown at Dinner Meeting

Several sportsmen availed themselves of the opportunity to attend the meeting of the Antioch Lions club Monday evening at Pregenzer's resort, at which motion pictures on the work of the Illinois Conservation department were shown.

A home-style chicken dinner was served at 7 o'clock.

Two new members, John P. Miller and Harry J. Krueger, were accepted into the organization during the business period.

The committee in charge of furnishing prizes for the annual Halloween party for the children of the village reported that the sum of $25 is being turned over for that purpose.

Plans were discussed for a dance to be sponsored by the Lions Nov. 20.

In token of respect for the late John B. (Bernie) Fields, who was an active member of the Antioch Lions, a moment of silence was observed before opening the meeting.

Livingston Osborne, director of the conservation department, described the department's work and some of its future plans.

He then introduced Conservation Officer Ben Bellrose, one of 30 members of the department who are attending a conservation officers' school being conducted at Lake Villa.

Bellrose, who is considered an authority on waterfowl, showed moving pictures dealing with this subject.

Commerce Jam and Jelly Rationing Oct. 31

Rationing of jams, jellies, preserves and fruit spreads will commence Sunday, Oct. 31, following an eight-day retail "freeze" period imposed by the Office of Price Administration at midnight Friday.

They will be rationed on the pre-cessed food stamps. Commencing Oct. 31, they may be bought on blue stamps X, Y and Z, in Ration Book Two, good until Nov. 20. On Nov. 1, green stamps A, B, and C, good through Dec. 20, may also be used.

Housewives will not be asked to declare stocks, and ration stamps will not be removed for supplies now on hand in homes, it is stated.

The demand for fruit spreads was accelerated by the butter shortage. The production outlook for 1943-pick jams and jellies meanwhile dropped under 50,000,000 pounds annually under the present curtailed buying rate. Stamp No. 20 in Ration Book 4 will become valid for 5 pounds of jam Nov. 1.

Business Houses Close For J. B. Fields Rites

Antioch business establishments were closed from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Monday afternoon in tribute to the memory of the late John B. (Bernie) Fields, for whom final services were held in the Strang Funeral home with the Rev. A. D. McKay of St. Ignatius' Episcopal church officiating. Burial was in Hillside cemetery.

Fields died last Thursday morning at St. Therese hospital, where he had been taken for an operation.

Funeral arrangements were delayed pending the arrival of his son, Jack, from Newberry college, S. C., where he is taking a Navy V-12 training course.

Schools Apply For Aid In Milk, Lunch Programs

Antioch High and Grade Schools Are Among 38 in County Applying

Antioch Township High school and Antioch Grade school are among the 38 schools in Lake county that have applied for federal and state assistance in their hot lunch or milk for students' programs for the ensuing school year.

Lake Villa, Grayslake, Wadsworth, Oakdale, Browne, Gavin, Big Hollow, Spaulding, Libertyville grade, Roundout, Hawthorn, Mundelein, Diamond Lake, Ivanhoe, Fox Lake, Beach, Zion grade and Highwood, North Chicago and Waukegan grade schools are the others.

Supplies 1/4 Requirements

Schools installing the "complete meal" program under the federal and state aid plan will receive nine cents per student each day from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, while the state will pay a total of two and one half cents on the same basis.

This plan, which will provide half of the day's nutritive requirements for each child, is being favored in most of the schools in the county.

The complete meal provides for the serving of a pint of whole milk, two ounces of meat or fish, or one egg, or two ounces of cheese, or soy beans, or four tablespoons of peanut butter, also one cup of vegetables or fruit or one-half cup of each; one or more slices of bread or muffins or other hot breads made of whole grain or enriched flour or cereal, also two teaspoons of butter or oleomargarine with added vitamin A.

The federal government will cut its contribution to seven cents and the state to one cent if milk is not served.

An alternative hot lunch program provides for a less adequate meal but still retains the one pint of milk a day provision. The federal government will pay 6 cents and the state one cent under this plan. If milk is not served, the federal allotment is cut to four cents while the state contribution remains at one cent.

While only one pint of milk is served each day the federal government will contribute two cents and the state one cent per student.

Antioch High school's program is for the serving of hot lunches. The grade school program is for the milk only.

Uncle Sam: No. 1 Publisher

The United States Government now prints more newspapers, magazines and other periodicals than all the private publishers of any single state put together, according to recent compilation. The survey showed that Federal employees now edit:

Four dailies.

Eight weeklies.

Eight bi-weeklies.

One hundred and ten monthlies.

Fifteen quarterlies.

Unnumbered other periodicals either issued irregularly throughout the year, or regularly during certain seasons of the year.

The Government periodicals range in size from that of a typical weekly newspaper to larger sized, slick paper magazine, and, so far, no attempt has been made to reduce Uncle Sam's periodicals in size, although private publishers have suffered what amounts to a 15 percent cut since last year.

The reporter who made the compilation says he is sure he did not find all of Uncle Sam's publications. There are 2,241 Government agencies today, he pointed out, and it would take him a full year to check with all of them.

"And there are new ones starting up all the time," he explained. "When a Government administrator wants to start a new publication, he just starts it. But private publishers have to go through a whole of a lot of red tape to start a new publication these days."

Feed My Sheep

Within the last week or two, a well-known magazine carried an article declaring that the United States had been committed to an "impossible" task of feeding all of Europe's hungry millions, single-handed. The article also declared that we wouldn't even be able to feed ourselves and our service-men abroad, to say nothing of our allies.

While not agreeing with the article in its entirety, we feel that it should have been published last spring, when the farmers needed help, or even in the summer, rather than after most of the harvest is in. Of course, it won't do any harm to keep it in mind for next season. The farmer faces a gigantic task during this conflict—and one that won't ease up for some time afterward.

All features of war are sad. One of the most regrettable, from the viewpoint of the future's welfare, is the starvation of innocent children.

This nation, single-handed, cannot hope to cope with the entire European hunger problem.

However, as the writer of the article we mentioned did not point out, we shall undoubtedly have substantial help in this task from Canada, Mexico, and the countries of Central and South America. The war-torn countries themselves will doubtless be able to do much, as they are able, little by little, to bend their efforts towards raising of food for themselves rather than for their enemies.

The situation is, indeed, desperate. But few Americans would be willing to sit down before it and call it hopeless or impossible. Tell an American something is "hopeless," assure him that it is "impossible," and he will sit down and figure out a way to make it possible—and hopeful.

True, we cannot make food out of nothing. We can, however, try to make what there is go as far as possible. We can try to see that the farmers have more help and more machinery; and we can get busy and raise more and better Victory gardens next year; can, pickle, dry and preserve more food. If each one does even a little, it will count for a great deal in the aggregate.

Price Fixing Is Still Imperfect

Some interesting commentaries are coming in with regard to the workings of price regulations, as they affect different stores.

One company which is said to operate 492 stores in 40 states is among those charged with violation of the "no higher price line limitations" under Maximum Price Regulation No. 330. In its answer to the charge, the company states that it is denied to sell, in four of its stores, dresses in higher price ranges than $1.29, because that was the price in March, 1942. In four stores, the price limit is $1.58; in 11, $1.98; in 23, $2.08; in 47, $3.98.

However, it seems that a competing store could sell the same dresses at higher prices based on today's manufacturing costs, if the store did not sell such dresses at lower prices in March, 1942. A new store could sell the dresses, based on current costs.

Undoubtedly the task of regulating prices in a manner fair to all consumers and all merchants and manufacturers is a difficult one. We do not envy the OPA its job. We believe, however, that now would be a good time to straighten out some of the "wrinkles" in the system.

Back up Your Boy—and OUR Boys—with War Bonds!

AMERICA'S on the march. And in the ranks is your boy, or the boy of a friend of yours, or someone you know.

You want to give these boys everything you've got—so that they can give the Axis everything they've got.

How can you do this?

You can forget "buying as usual." Sure, maybe there'll be scarcities. But we're all in the same boat—and the quicker we win, the sooner those scarcities will disappear.

You can keep the boys from coming back to a country where the price of living has gone sky-high because of inflation—by putting ten per cent of your salary every week into War Bonds.

Listen. When you can really put that money to use, it'll be there—with interest. It'll be there with interest any time you really need it during the next nine years and ten months. And the interest—don't lose sight of that—is 2.9 per cent. Where else are you going to get a return like that?

The banks would love to buy these bonds—it's more interest than they can get. But these War Bonds are for you and only for you.

Meanwhile—while they're protecting you against want, against inflation, against the future—they're building bombers and tanks and ships and everything we need to get this war won fast.

When you've bought a Bond—and when you're buying regularly—when you're thinking war in everything you do and doing everything you can to win it, you can look a soldier or a sailor or a marine straight in the eye and say, "Brother, I'm fighting, too!"

5 Reasons Why

1. By investing in War Bonds you help provide the planes, the tanks, the guns and the ships we must have to survive and conquer.
2. You prove that you are a patriotic American.
3. You aid the morale of our fighting men, by showing them that the entire Nation is behind them.
4. You prove to our enemies that we are a United People.
5. You protect your own financial future, as every $18.75 you invest in a War Bond brings you back $25 in 10 years. You make the world's safest investment, by buying a share in the world's most powerful country.

och News that have been to North Africa and back. They were wrapped around a cane or staff of gnarled wood, sent to him by S/Sgt. James Horan. Horan described the iron-pointed souvenir as "a relic of the old days. Some Arab might have carried it climbing the mountains."

Two young men from this vicinity were formally started on their way as aviation cadets in the army air forces last week when they were sworn into the service, according to information received here this week from the Army Aviation Cadet board in Chicago.

They are:

Thomas Willis Brett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Brett, Grapevine avenue, Channel Lake. He was graduated from Antioch Township High school, where he participated in basketball, baseball and tennis, winning three major letters. His hobbies include model airplane building, swimming, golfing, football, baseball and basketball. His cousin, George Brett, commands a fleet in the Pacific.

Theodore William Schmitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Schmitz, Antioch, is also a graduate of Antioch High, and was active in boxing, tennis, football and baseball, playing on the "varsity" teams in the two latter sports. In addition to athletics, including skating and golf, he is interested in the building of gas model planes.

Sgt. Richard A. Thill is spending a 15-day furlough from Tucson, Ariz., visiting his mother, Mrs. Bernice C. Thill, of San Diego, Calif., after which he will leave for McCook, Neb. He is a gunner in the air forces.

His brother, Cadet William E. Thill, was moved last week from Massachusetts State College to Nashville, Tenn., where he is attending pre-flight school.

The Thills are from Lake Villa, where Mrs. Thill was a house mother at Allendale Farm.

Christmas parcels for soldiers who have left home stations en route overseas after September 30 may be mailed as late as December 10, it was announced today by Major General H. S. Aurand, Commanding General of the Sixth Service Command, with headquarters here.

The new deadline has been set for the benefit of persons who receive official change of address notification subsequent to September 30. The reason for the separate provision, it was explained by Major Kenneth H. Donnelly, Sixth Service Command Postal Officer, is that relatives and friends of soldiers being shipped now would have expected the soldiers still to be in this country at Christmas time and would not have sent parcels in time for the regular October 15 deadline for overseas mailing.

The change of address notification must be presented by the sender when the package is mailed, Major Donnelly said. The same limitations on weight and size placed on packages mailed before October 15 will hold for those mailed before the December 10 deadline. Packages may not be more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined, and they may not weigh more than five pounds.

One other restriction on the delayed mailing is that only one parcel can be sent from one person to any one individual with an overseas A. P. O. address.

H. S. Class Visits
Museum of Science

(By Judy Pregener)

Last Saturday the chemistry class met outside of King's at the early hour of seven for a trip to Chicago. We drove to Waukegan and took the North Shore from there. Everyone was half asleep on the train, but when we reached that nice, fresh, clean-smelling air (ugh!) of the City, we all woke up.

The Museum of Science and Industry was our main objective and first stop. It was really fascinating. The best part of it is that you can push buttons and make the different things work yourself.

They have an old fashioned movie, a place where you can hear how it's made, a working model of an oil refinery. It starts out black, sticky oil and after going through all different kinds of pipes, filters, and so forth, it comes out beautiful gas! I can't begin to tell of all the things in the Museum. It would take a week to really see everything. It's wonderful!

After the Museum we went back to the Loop. And guess how? The subway. We don't know, but we think we were the first Antioch people to ride in it. The observatory of the Board of Trade Building was our next stop. There is another place we could stay all day, but we didn't have all day. It was almost four now so we went over to the Navy Show, which was just as exciting and new to us as all the rest. You would never dream until you saw them that the planes, guns, shells, and such are as big as they are.

We had a busy day. One that we would like to repeat. We certainly "got educated."

All kinds of padded suits to be worn by trainees while aggravating trained Army dogs, according to Major A. T. Gheen, salvage and reclamation officer of the Sixth Service command with headquarters in Chicago. The suit, made of salvaged materials, costs about $25, in contrast with the $150 price for ready-made suits, Major Gheen said.

A real, old-fashioned American Christmas for every man and woman in uniform stationed in the Western Hemisphere is what USO hopes to make possible this year, according to Dr. Royal H. Burpee, overseas program director. To accomplish this aim, USO is already shipping traditional Christmas decorations to all USO clubs outside the continental United States.

Cadet Milton Smith is home this week on a 10-day furlough from Newberry College, S. C., visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Savage.

OBSERVER

G. G. Bothum of "Woodhaven" on Curtis road up Bristol way was in to buy a few "No Hunting" signs the other day. G. G. says a couple of windows were smashed, and there were bullet holes through the wall of one bedroom and through another wall into another bedroom. A couple of bullets were on the floor. G. G. is pretty sure someone was doing some shooting around the place . . . even if there wasn't anyone in the house at the time.

Along with type lice and other afflictions that fall to the lot of the printer, we been sufferin' from a few headaches due to type "pi." In plain words, folks, we spilled a little type last wk. and got it all mixed up—and didn't have time to re-set it or straighten it out. So that's what happened to Mrs. C. B. Hamlin's Lake Villa news. She got it in to us all right. But us—ouch!—we even hate to think of it!

We're going to start suit ag'in' the soap artists. They put some highly artistic drawings on the window at one of the service stations, and all we got was scribbling. If ya gotta soap our windows, take time to make 'em pretty.

Shooting from Highway
Brings Hunter $32 Fine

George Fink, Evanston, was fined $32 and costs for shooting a red squirrel from a tree in the yard of the George White farm at Bear Hill last Thursday. Fink was reported to be standing on the highway when he fired at the squirrel.

Justice of the Peace Harry Hoy of Waukegan, before whom he appeared Friday, called attention to the state game laws which make the shooting of game from a highway a misdemeanor.

Several complaints are said to have been made to the Lake County sheriff's office of late concerning the shooting of game from automobiles on highways.

Food Loss

Our over-all food losses through waste in transporting, distribution, and through home spoilage is about 20 to 30 per cent of all food harvested.

Grade School News

Grades 4 and 5

Several of our pupils were ill last week.

Two pupils, Mary Curnes and Arthur Doty, are leaving. Arthur has returned to Chicago and Mary has gone to Arizona with her father for the winter.

The seventh grade is publishing the first issue of the school newspaper. This will be sent to all persons in the armed forces who graduated from the school.

General News

The sixth grade teacher, Mrs. Bartlett, left last Thursday to visit her husband in Texas.

The teachers of the Antioch Grade school attended the teachers' meeting in Evanston Monday.

The grade school children are back in their regular schedule of classes after several days' "vacation" due to registration for rationing being held at the school.

The clothesline-and-pulley arrangement that used to be handy for folks living in the south flat of the Brogan doesn't run there any more. The leaning-tower-of-Pisa shed to which it was attached at one end was torn down by a crew of workmen Tuesday afternoon. They carefully removed the clothesline first.

It's the Monotony . . . They do things alphabetically at the Altus, Okla., army flying school, assigning to each instructor five cadets whose names begin with the same letter as his own.

Impressed, Lt. Smith called over Lt. Anne M. Smith, the field's first Wac arrival, and the whole lot of them had their picture taken with the group's training plane, "The Village Smithy."

The photographer was Tech. Sgt. James R. Smith.

The lights of Diogenes—famed seeker of an honest man—never shone as brightly as the eyes of a Kenton, O., boy war-worker recently when he opened a package from a soldier in North Africa, who returned a wallet he had lost while making tanks.

James Chamberlain, 19, who worked in the Lima, O., Tank Depot for four months, missed his wallet in April. Realizing that he had probably lost it in a now-sealed tank, he gave the wallet up for lost along with $4.00 and some personal papers it contained.

It was with surprised pleasure, therefore, that Chamberlain received the package containing the wallet along with a friendly letter from Pvt. Roy Blair of the North African Ordnance company, who explained how the wallet had been found while examining tanks received from the Lima Tank Depot.

"Keep 'em rolling—we need 'em," Blair wrote in his letter to Chamberlain. The soldier also asked the Lima war worker if he had ever expected to see his wallet again.

We see by the papers where the Burlington fire department was called out to the Andrew Koenen farm there a week ago Mon. night when a haystack out in a field caught fire. It is believed that pheasant hunters started the blaze with a lighted cigarette or match. Two other farmers west of Burlington reported the burning of corn shocks in the fields. In the interests of war-time conservation, we are gonna express the hope that hunters will observe rules of caution with matches and cigarette butts as well as with firearms while hunting . . . so they'll get a warm welcome next year, instead of a hot one. Folks who wouldn't think of flinging a lighted match at gasoline are often astonished at what happens when they drop one in some dry leaves, hay or cornstalks.

A survey of war workers shows that women war workers do not eat as well as men workers—at least that's what the article received from Washington says. What the guys who did the survey forgot to take into consideration was, that the men depend on "the little woman" at home to fix their lunches and see that they eat the right kind of food—but when the little woman enters war work, she generally has to look out for her own meals.

We see where a woman's magazine has an angle on the reluctance of women to enter war work that ain't bin touched on yet—in fact, has been avoided like a super-hot-potato, so far as we can observe. That is the angle that when a housewife goes into the factory, she doesn't exchange her home duties for a man's job—she just

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Jap Forces Smashed in Sea and Air As Allies Pound Main Supply Bases; Germans Fall Back to Massico Ridge; Higher Dependency Allotments Fixed

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

ITALY: Tough Going

Reported from their Velturine river line, the Nazis fell back on prepared positions along the Massico ridge, 2,500 feet high.

Following their usual tactics, the Germans were expected to hold out until the Allies take the time to concentrate superior numbers along the different points in the mountains to overpower the rugged outposts.

When driven from Massico, a road to the Nazis was expected to run to the Garigliano river, some eight miles distant. Behind the Garigliano, it was thought, their retreat might be made in the mountains, while up roads into the sea in this sector.

Although the Nazis had a force of a column of tanks, they were fighting like devils. The Allies had planned to cut off any Nazi tanks behind them, but the Nazi rear guard, and regular authorities that hide in the rugged country, had driven U.S. and British forces, drawing them into the open.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC:

New Fight

Forces in New Guinea are now in full strength of preparing the possibility of an early return to the island, and the first base in New Guinea. American aircraft are being kept upon center. A new base is now under construction.

Once the British force for New Guinea had been driven to the Sepik and New Guinea, it had lost most of its strength and importance. The enemy's leader of these forces, Byng, is being used to help the British in the northern area of the Philippines and New Guinea, as a base for enemy shipping and aircraft, can endanger any force moving northward.

Concentrating on British aircraft, said more than 100 were flying in the harbor, and destroyed more than 200 aircraft.

Striking close to Japan's home waters, U.S. U-boats have sunk 96 more enemy merchant ships, totaling to 366 the total haggled.

DRAFT: Propose New Allotments

Wives of American servicemen would continue to receive $50 monthly from the government, but payments for support of children would be raised to $30 for the first child and $10 for all others, according to new dependency allotments called for in congressional bills.

Under the present system, wives receive $50 monthly, the only $12 is paid to the husband, and $16 for every minor child. The new allotments also expand bonus payments in most cases to collateral dependents such as parents, grandchildren, brothers and sisters. Payment to one parent for child support, for instance, should be $50 monthly instead of the current rate of $37.

Under the new bills, regular dependency allowances would be paid to the husband and children of the Wives in WAVES. If they relied on them for sole support, the government would make the wife the first monthly payment. Instead of waiting for the soldier's contribution of $22, monthly payments would be expanded to include the top three enlisted grades in addition to the present four lowest.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

ARMED: The United States is supplying arms, equipment and food to 32 fronts, the Senate naval committee revealed. Some, it was said, are as much as 97,000 miles from the point of origin.

SPAIN: Exiled Spanish Loyalists will form a "government in exile" possibly in Mexico, according to a statement by Diego Barrio, ex-president of the republic.

U.S. PLANES: Production Lags

Because of changes in models, engine shortages, labor needs, faulty distribution of raw materials and plant reorganizations, American aircraft production for 1943 will fall below President Roosevelt's announced goal of 125,000 planes, the Office of War Information said. War Production board officials have cut estimates of output to 40,000.

In reviewing the aircraft program, OWI noted that the period of experimentation has passed, with the result that production is now being concentrated on proven models. Engine improvements have given American fighter planes increased speed and climb, while developments in armor and gunnery have added to the strength of heavy bombers. Dwarving even the famed Flying Fortress, a new long-range bomber capable of carrying heavier loads will soon make its appearance.

JAPAN:

Expand Industry

Japan has moved for maximum industrialization of East Asia as part of her program to meet the Allies' impending onslaught on her rambling empire.

By recent order, the famous business house of Mitsubishi was directed to double the capital of its subsidiaries, with the Japanese government itself putting in 50 per cent of the new money.

Further, Mitsubishi's shipbuilding, steel and aircraft industries are to be reorganized, with vital plants moved to China and Manchuria to escape Allied bombing. The other 40 industrial houses which share their rule over Japanese business with Mitsubishi are also expected to come under close government control.

FOOD:

1944 Outlook

Although food production in 1943 will probably equal or even exceed this year's, civilian supplies may be smaller, as a result of agricultural economies reported. Military demands and other government requirements will more than offset any increase, it was said.

Supplies of carrots, chickens, eggs, fresh fruits and vegetables, potatoes, dried beans and peas should be as plentiful as this year, the bureau read, despite a greater commitment of bread and flour promising more A and B vitamins.

However, shorter supplies of meats and dairy products are in prospect, the bureau reported, with a resultant decrease in calories, protein and calcium. Stocks of fats and oils should equal this year's production, it was said.

Happy Meeting

When Pfc. Mrs. Elizabeth P. hot, Elkins, N. C., returned to the United States from England with a WAC contingent, she met her fiance, Sgt. Wallace R. Belknap, R. C. (at left), also on overseas duty.

Reunited, the couple decided to serve Uncle Sam as husband and wife, and they planned their romance by letters, which made Pfc. Elliot the last WAC to be wed in the European theater of war.

CATTLE:

Less Slaughter

Because cattle slaughter for the first nine months of 1943 dropped to 7,362,000 head from the 9,000,000 killed during the same period last year, 700 million pounds less beef have been produced.

During the first few weeks of October, however, cattle slaughter showed an increase over preceding months, with 400,000 head killed. On October 10, 20 major markets received 300,000 cattle for a record day, with Kansas City receipts of 51,000 setting an all-time mark.

According to reports, many thin, grass-fed cattle were finding their way to the stockyards instead of to the feed lots of the Midwest's corn belt. Prime fed cattle were selling only slightly below the July peak.

WAR BONDS

Final tabulations reveal that the 15-billion-dollar Third War Loan was over-subscribed by nearly four billion. Of the $10,000,000,000 worth of bonds sold, $5,377,600,000 was taken by individuals. The popular "Series E" bonds account for $2,720,000,000 of this great sum.

Treasury officials are gratified at the response, because it was the intention to market this issue among individuals, estates and business corporations to as large an extent as possible.

Behind the scenes of shell production

In this modern war production plant 37 mm. steel cartridge cases are being turned out in vast quantities with the aid of efficient electrical operations.

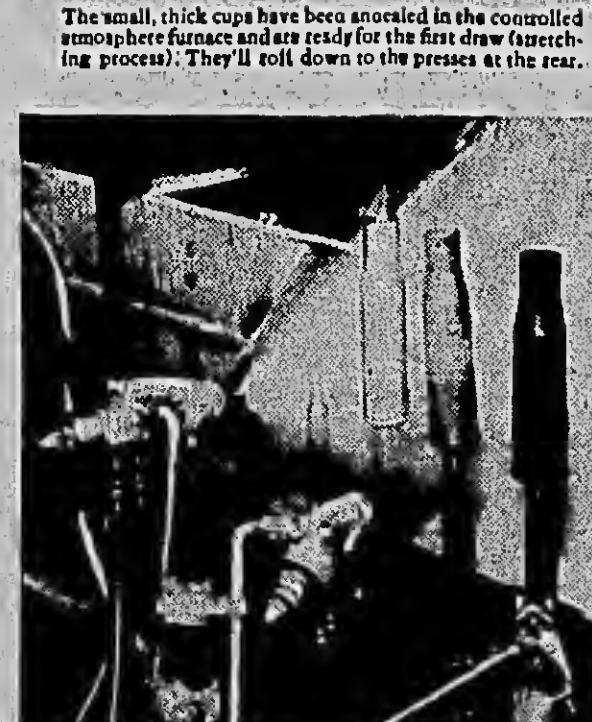

Electric conveyors provide a steady flow of parts and a progressive movement through the various steps of processing. The draws (stretching operations) are made in huge electrically operated presses. The annealing is done in an accurately controlled continuous electric furnace, conveyorized salt bath and conveyor type oven. The finish is applied by an automatic spray machine and is baked in an infra-red oven.

In this war plant, just as in thousands of others throughout Northern Illinois, Electric Power is the vital source of energy . . . the dynamic force that puts more production into every hour.

Electric Power Speeds War Production

Because of its compactness, efficiency and ease of operation, the infra-red battery of lamps is used in baking the finish on shell casings. Casings have been removed from the foreground to show the cartrids which heat the bottom of the shells.

The small, thick cups have been annealed in the controlled atmosphere furnace and are ready for the first draw (stretching process). They'll roll down to the presses at the rear.

Draws are made in these big electrically driven presses. Draws shall are pushed up to the conveyor by a hydraulic ram, and the conveyor carries them to the wash and furnace.

Internal spraying is the function of this electrical machine. The gun puts the shell over the revolving table and the paint sprays into it. She does two at a time.
